

Call for Questions: Next Week's mHealth Summit

December 2, 2011

By Shiv Gaglani

The 2011 mHealth Summit will be held in Washington DC this coming week (December 5th-7th). The event will be filled with announcements of emerging, innovative technologies (medgadgets!) in the fields of mobile health and biometric monitoring. The program features speakers such as HHS Secretary Kathleen Sebelius, Surgeon General Regina Benjamin, and Qualcomm CEO Paul Jacobs, as well as presentations from companies such as AT&T, Verizon, Ford, WellDoc, Zeo, Nuance, AliveCor and many more.

This author will be covering key proceedings for Medgadget and would like to invite you loyal readers to send along any questions or comments you have that he could try getting answered, or at least convey at the Summit. Feel free to comment here (below) or send your question/comment to shiv.gaglani [at] medgadget.com. Regardless of whether you have any specific questions or comments, keep your eyes open for posts about the proceedings next week!

Check out the full details of the program here...